JEANNETTE SPINNEY

JOHN LA FOUNTAINE

Selection of Betty Coed and Joe College Announced During Dance

Betty Coed and Joe College, alias Jeannette Spinney and John LaFountaine, were selected by the OCE student body as being the most typical college students. With a thought given to their personality, service to the school, willingness to work, and participation in activities, all voting Oregon College of Education students selected these two people from a list of nominees made during the nomination assembly held a few weeks ago.

The results of the balloting were concealed until the intermission of the dance which climaxed the Saturday night senior week-end activities.

Jeannette was given a double honor as she was also elected to serve the student body as next year's first vice-president, a step up from the office of second vice-president which she has filled this year.

An Active Student

The title of Betty Coed can be added to the long list of activities and honors awarded her throughout her busy college year. Jeannette has been sophomore class commissioner, chairman of the 1954 awards banquet, is a member of Phi Beta Sigma, teacher's honorary; Kappa Phi, art honorary; and a member of Staff and Key, one of the women's service clubs at OCE.

John LaFountaine has been very active thus far in his college career. During his freshman year he was the treasurer for his class. John has three years of varsity football behind him and is a member of Varsity "O."

Lists Several Activities

Not only is he a rough and ready lineman, but he also participates in a large number of extra-curricular activities. He is

Maximum of Eighteen Credit Hours May Be Earned in Summer Sessions

A number of outstanding visiting instructors have been secured to conduct workshops during the 1956 summer session at Oregon College of Education, according to an announcement made recently by Jack Morton, registrar. The workshops, a tradition of past sessions, are carefully planned to meet the needs and interests of teachers and administrators. Each workshop will be offered for a two-week period and will carry three quarter-hours of credit. The summer session begins June 11 and ends August 3.

Dr. Howard R. Halverson, music consultant, Palo Alto unified school district, Palo Alto, California, will conduct the first of the workshops, "Music in the Classroom," from June 11 to 22. The "Social Science Workshop" will be held from June 25 to July 6 under the direction of Miss Henrietta Wolfer, OCE. Dr. Eugene Dawson, former national coordinator, Teacher Education and Religion Project, will return for his second year to conduct a workshop on "Moral and Spiritual Values" from July 9 to 20. "Later Childhood and Adolescence" is the title of a workshop to be conducted from July 23 to August 3 by a visiting instructor.

Miss Emma Henkle, associate professor of education and director of the reading clinic at OCE, will conduct the workshop, "Teaching of Reading in the Elementary School" during the first two weeks of the post session, which is scheduled from August 6 to 24.

The workshop, "Geography, Music, Drama and Related Cultures of Western Europe," which carries five hours of credit, will be conducted in the form of a travel tour from June 29 to August 28 by Mr. Charles Noxon, assistant professor of social science at OCE.

In addition to offering all of the required courses leading to the degree of master of science in education, the college will also offer a wide variety of elective courses at the graduate level. Courses needed for certification are offered for those seeking administrator's or supervisor's credentials.

Students may earn 13 quarter-hours of credit during the regular session and as many as five quarter-hours of credit during the post session, with a maximum of 18 for the summer. Work will be offered at all levels of college preparation, from kindergarten through the master of science in education degree.

Wolf Knights Tap Seven OCE Men

"Red face" time is nearing again, for the Wolf Knights have scheduled Wednesday, May 2, at 8 p.m. in Maple hall as the time and place for the initiation skits to be presented by the newly-tapped members: Stan Kenyon, Tony Peterson, H. T. Walters, Elton Gregory, Grant Kremers, Daryl Girod and Doug Rogers. Witnesses of previous initiation skits know well that the evening always proves entertaining as well as "informative."

Wolf Knights is the men's service organization whose purpose is to keep alive the traditions of the campus and to encourage leadership and participation in campus activities. Members are selected on the basis of loyalty, character and willingness to work.

University Will Offer Prenursing Courses

University of Oregon Medical school plans to offer four sections of the "Prenursing Previews" again this next summer.

These will be open, not only to prenursing students, but to any students who have completed two or three terms of college work and who have a GPA of 2.5 or higher. These five-day courses are designed to give students an opportunity to learn simple procedures for patient care and to participate in the actual hospital experiences. It has been found that the group of girls who took these courses last summer were high in their praises of being able to have such experiences before enrolling in a school of nursing.

Miss Joan Seavey whose appointment as director of student affairs at Oregon College of Education was approved last week by the State Board of Higher Education.

State Board Approves Appointment Miss Seavey To Assume New Duties

Appointment of Miss Joan Seavey as director of student affairs at Oregon College of Education was approved Tuesday morning by the State Board of Higher Education. Miss Seavey has served on the OCE staff since 1946 as assistant professor of English and dean of women.

Purpose of the new position, which is one of several reorganization changes made necessary by the increased enrollment at OCE, is to coordinate the various personnel services. Areas with which Miss Seavey will work will be student housing, student government and other student activities, health services, and all counselling services.

Miss Seavey explained that the reorganization doesn't change any of the existing offices, but rather organizes them into "a more workable pattern." She stated that "it is consistent with the development in other schools where there have been enrollment increases."

Miss Seavey received her B.A. degree in secondary education from the University of Oregon in 1939, and her master's degree in 1950. She has worked on her doctor's degree in higher education at Columbia university and, more recently, at Stanford university, where she spent a year on sabbatical leave. For two years she taught commercial subjects and was dean of girls at the secondary level. She has also worked in the dean of women's office at the University of Oregon.

Who will wear the crown? Results of the votes to be cast this Wednesday and Thursday will determine the queen among the princesses, left to right, Coralie Doughton, Bev Bluhm, Donna Peterson, and Glenda Hamar.

This Isn't a One-Man Job!

With the Monmouth Centennial only a few days away, student participation is urgently needed to complete the OCE student council sponsored float. As reported last week, the committee chairman for this project was able to rustle up very little assistance and was obligated to do what little work could be done alone.

Although no complaints were quoted from the chairman, it does seem a shame for a student body of over six hundred students to harbor an attitude of "let the other guy do it!"

Signs were posted telling of the float decoration meeting times, and still no results were realized. As a student body that is always proud to say that we are a friendly group, why not practice what we preach and give a friendly hand to someone within our own school? Help with the Centennial. Be a part of the activity. Let's submit a float that's a real winner!

Open Letter to the Student Body

On Monday evening the 23rd of April, the cosigners of this letter presented to the Student Council a petition, supported by the necessary signatures, to place before the student body the question of Presidential Payment. The purpose of the originators and signers of this petition was not to approve or disapprove the action already taken by the council or the committee on Presidential Payment, but rather, to allow the Student Body of OCE to have a voice in the proposed plan.

During this past week you have seen evidence of council action in the form of a questionnaire to be completed by you—the student. If you have used this ballot as a means of expressing yourself constructively in this matter of payment for student body president, we have accomplished our goal.

Campus Mail Offers Invitation

While the majority of students on campus are looking forward to the end of school, there are a few who aren't! These "characters" are looking forward to the beginning of another action-packed school year next fall, beginning with Freshman Week, to be held from Tuesday, September 18, through Saturday, September 22. During this period, the "young greenhorns" to higher learning will become acquainted with campus life and our college.

The people who are looking forward to this event are none other than your hard-working Student Council, who are now in the process of selecting students to be invited back to help with the activities involved with the week and to extend our warm OCE welcome. If you would like to be considered as one of the people to be invited back, please fill in the form in your P.O. Box — and to prove how much college has done for you so far, see how well you can follow the complicated directions!

Oh yes, there's a little surprise question you may be interested in at the bottom of the form. It may mean fun and excitement for some of you! READ YOUR CAMPUS MAIL!!!

Eighty Students Take Trip to Washington

Some 80 students from the Oregon College of Education journeyed to Washington on Tuesday, April 17, under the direction of their physical science professors, Dr. Anton Postl, associate professor of science, and Dr. Lloyd Johnson, assistant professor of science.

The students visited the aluminum company at Vancouver, Washington, in the morning. At noon they were luncheon guests of a paper mill at Camas, Washington, after which they were conducted on tours of the mill.

Three charter buses were utilized for the trip, which Dr. Postl described as "the biggest one we've ever had."

Blood Donations Needed; Mobile To Visit Campus

Monmouth and Independence residents are urged to join with Oregon College of Education students and visit the American Red Cross Blood Mobile on Monday, May 7, from 2 to 5:30 p.m. The Blood Mobile will be set up in the gymnasium at OCE under the direction of Dr. Matt Thompson.

Blood is urgently needed in order to keep up supplies depleted during recent emergencies. Blood given to a Blood Mobile unit is furnished to anyone without charge when the need arises. Whole blood — the kind used for transfusions — can only be stored for 21 days so a continuing supply is necessary. Give a half hour of your time and a pint of your blood to save a life.

Requirements for donating blood are: good physical fitness, and the donor should be between the ages of 18 and 59 and weigh at least 110 pounds. Further screening will be given by the doctor and nurses at the blood mobile unit.

All students planning to donate blood are asked not to eat fats for lunch because blood with fatty particles deteriorates faster than blood without them.

Variety Show Art Display in Gallery

Now in display at the Oregon College of Education art gallery is the "Variety Show," a collection of 59 paintings which were chosen from a collection of over 3000 contemporary watercolors assembled during the past several years for publication in "Ford Times" and "Lincoln-Mercury Times."

The 50 pictures were selected to present, in a single show, the widest possible variety of subject, geographical location and technique as handled by 50 different painters of our time. Subjects range from a Maine lobster festival to California begonias. Most of the paintings have been done by artists who live and work in a region that particularly appeals to them and who are therefore able to paint its scenes and activities with unusual fidelity and warmth.

The Variety Show, the second exhibition of its kind, is sponsored by Arthur T. Lougee, art director of Fort Motor Company publications, Dearborn, Mich. It will be on display at OCE until May 13.

OCE Sponsors Flaming For Centennial Queen

Beverly Flaming, freshman at Central high school, is OCE's candidate for queen of the Monmouth Centennial, according to the Centennial Committee.

Miss Flaming is sponsored by four other organizations in the Monmouth-Independence area, in addition to OCE.

The queen of the Centennial will be crowned next Thursday evening. The five candidates sold Centennial buttons last week and the princess who had the most buttons sold in her name will reign as queen.

Button sales on the campus were directed by Russ Baglien. No report on the number of buttons sold was available at press time.

Student Teachers Attend Spokane Conference; Two OCE'ers Take Part

Among the 13 student teachers and first year teachers participating in the regional conference, Northwest unit of the Association for Student Teaching in Spokane this month were Loren Scott, representing the student teachers at OCE, and Bill Hays, first year teacher at Parkrose and a 1955 graduate of OCE. In all, eight colleges of the Northwest were represented by student teachers.

On the first of the two-day meet, the student teachers participated in the group sessions concerning "Solving the Problems in Teaching." These group sessions were composed of a cross-section of those educators who work with student teachers and the student teachers themselves. The questions to be studied focused on the student teacher and the student teacher in each group was given an opportunity to express himself in their approach to the "Problems in Teaching."

The student teachers attending the conference presented their conclusions to "The Student Teacher Looks at Student Teaching" in the form of a panel at the end of a luncheon meeting in the second day. The group had met in a morning session attended and conducted exclusively by student teachers and first year teachers. The absence in this meeting of the participating educators at the conference, enabled the student teachers to express themselves freely.

In the morning session Bill Hayes led the discussion in areas of major concern to the student teacher. Of the many points discussed the group selected several major topics to present in their panel at the luncheon.

Loren Scott acted as moderator for the panel at the luncheon session. The opinions expressed by the panel members had the concentrated attention of all the conference members and it was felt that their contribution to the conference was one of much importance.

The views expressed by the OCE representatives were: "that student participation in such conference meetings would lead to a better understanding of the problems of teaching by educators and students alike. By such sharing of views and ideas the student would better realize that the problems of teaching are being challenged. The problems in other states surrounding Oregon are many of those that we have already found the answers to. Of course there are some problems we all share, but we feel that the students here in the Oregon colleges are indeed fortunate to be enrolled in schools that offer a far more advanced program than many other state promote."

Eight OCE Students Photograph Petroglyphs at The Dalles Dam

Eight Oregon College of Education students accompanied Kenneth Yost, assistant professor of art education, to The Dalles last week where the group viewed and photographed the petroglyphs which are soon to be covered by The Dalles dam pool.

Mr. Yost explained that the petroglyphs are "major evidences of early civilization in the Columbia area, at the point where two civilizations met—that of the coastal Indians and the hunters of the inland. Some persons think that at Spearfish, now only a name sign on the railroad line, that 16,000 years of sequential human habitation might have taken place—making it the oldest such place in the hemisphere!"

The petroglyphs are "a kind of visual communication," Yost stated, "and whether or not they have religious or artistic intent, they are of historical significance and are dramatic to visit. These petroglyphs, carved in hard basalt rock, have been considered as fine examples of this art style as have been reported anywhere in the New World."

The students who made the trip are presenting reports to some of the college classes and to elementary school groups. They are: Jim Bottorff, Monmouth; Donald Sweeney, Monmouth; Bob Park, Monmouth; Ronald Petrie, Salem; Norman Berreman, Corvallis; Glen Brostrom, Monmouth; Del Ray Krier, Dallas; and Ernie Ediger, Monmouth.

Mr. Kenneth Yost, assistant professor of art at Oregon College of Education, lower center, is seen inspecting the petroglyphs with three students from Oregon College of Education. A total of eight OCE students accompanied Mr. Yost on the trip to The Dalles.

Lamron Mile To Be Feature Track Event

New records will be recorded at OCE for the first annual intramural track meet which will be held on the Wolves' track May 3 at 3 p.m. All marks turned in at this meet will be official records for at least a year, as this is the first event of this kind on the OCE campus.

All competition will be between classes in 12 events. The featured event of the meet will be the "Lamron Mile" which will witness the "survival of the fittest."

The 12-pound shot put, high jump, pole vault, broad jump, softball throw, and push-up relay are slated as field event competition. Track events will feature the 75-yard dash, 120 low hurdles, 440 walk, 880 relay and 440 relay.

All OCE fellows are urged to take part in this intramural meet which holds promise of being a gala affair. How do you know—you may be another Jim Thorpe in disguise.

Baby Girls Head OCE Birth Lists

Eight pound baby girl season must be the present style, for two more female births were recorded within the OCE realm.

Weighing in at eight pounds, nine ounces was Donna Marie, born to Wanda and Guy Hehn on Sunday, April 22, in the Dallas hospital. Guy is a sophomore majoring in general studies.

"Whimpy" Gernhart became a cigar-passing poppa when his wife, Judy Lee, gave birth to their baby girl April 20. Victoria Lynn tipped the scales at eight pounds, seven ounces. Wyman is a sophomore from Hillsboro, majoring in biology.

Travel Opportunity Is Offered Students

According to word received by Mr. Charles Noxon, a limited number of undergraduate grants will be offered to those students who are especially interested in anthropology, the Spanish language, or Latin-American history, for the University of San Carlos is offering grants for a six-week's summer school in Guatemala.

This grant covers transportation charges from New Orleans to Guatemala and back. While there, provision will be made for board and room with a Guatemalan family. These courses have been fully accredited under restrictions set up for World War II and Korean Veterans.

Mr. Noxon, himself very much enthused about the offer, urges any interested party to contact him for further information. As he stated, "the entire cost of the project would not exceed $350 and would be an A-1 opportunity to obtain education plus travel, relaxation, and summer fun. Someone will be awarded the grants, why not an Oregon College of Education student?"

Campus Breezes

Applications for student teaching positions during fall term, 1956, are now available in the education office. The deadline for completed applications is Wednesday, May 16, 1956.

All women students under 21 years of age must petition for an off-campus residence for the summer quarter. These petitions should be secured from the deans' office and filed there no later than May 15 for students regularly enrolled in the spring quarter. Students over 21 will not need to petition the housing committee for an off-campus residence for this summer.

There will be opportunities for part-time work for several students during the summer quarter. Men or women desiring part-time work in any of the campus buildings or in any of the campus facilities are asked to check immediately with the deans' office to fill out the necessary application blank.

There will be work opportunities in the swimming pool, physical education building, in the dormitory, and in the library, and for the various professors throughout the campus. During the summer, some students who live off-campus will be able to find part-time work within the dormitory. Applications will be filled according to the date they are received.

Help! Student Assistance Needed To Promote Centennial Projects

Wanted—15 OCE men! No, this isn't an appeal by a group of dateless females; but it is a request issued by Lynn Huston, general chairman for OCE participation in the Monmouth Centennial. These 15 fellows are wanted for the purpose of judging floats during the procession of the parade on Saturday, May 5, at 2 p.m. Anyone who is interested is asked to contact Lynn or Bob Bowsby prior to May 1.

Lynn has also urged that every living group, campus or off-campus, any club or organization, class, or even individuals, start working on a float to enter in the parade. There is no need for extravagance as the people of Monmouth would appreciate and enjoy any type of exhibit that will add to the success of the parade. Just doll up the old car, or jump on any old "Paint" and join the rest of the town in this once in 100 years event.

Don Helwig, freshman, has been appointed to formulate plans for the ASOCE float which is student council-sponsored. "Any and all workers on the float are needed and will be appreciated," Don announced.

As far as entrance restrictions on float entries are concerned—there are none. There will be no classifications of floats, and anyone may submit an entry which is eligible for the $50 sweepstakes prize to be awarded the first place winner. Bob Bowsby, freshman, is head of the parade entries and should be contacted for further details.

Myrna Little, senior, is rounding up student talent which will represent OCE in the Variety Show to be held in Campbell hall auditorium at 8 p.m. on Thursday, May 3.

The announcement and coronation of the Centennial Queen will be made at this time. Queen buttons are required for admission.

Chapel Service Draws Senior Week-end Curtain

Some 150 high school seniors from throughout the state visited the Oregon College of Education campus during the past week-end's senior campus preview, according to Sally Edgar of Bay City, general chairman.

One of the highlights of the week-end was the naming of "Betty Coed" and "Joe College" at the semi-formal dance on Saturday night. Jeannette Spinney of Beaverton and John La Fontaine of Clatskanie, received the awards following last week's balloting to determine the most typical college students.

Among other Saturday activities was a fashion show of campus clothes for various occasions. Pat Smith of Monmouth and Colleen Pederson of Milwaukie, served as commentators.

A talent show on Friday opened the week-end. It was emceed by Ernie Magill of Redmond and

Owens Out with Injury, Team Places Changed

A change in the OCE baseball lineup was noticed at the Portland State game. One was due to an injury and the other was a shift in position.

Gene Owens, first baseman, broke his leg in the first game of the twin bill at Portland State. Gordon Miller replaced Owens for the next game. Darol Woolsey, freshman from Newport, has taken over the second base spot. Larry Buss moved from second to third and Ron McKichan switched to the outfield.

Wolves Post Easy Meet Victory Against Portland State Vikings

Visiting senior high schoolers and spectators at the Portland State-OCE track meet held on the Wolves field April 21, were witnesses to the triumph by the OCE cindermen over the Vikings by a lop-sided score of 90 to 41. Sprinter John Carpenter, sophomore from Portland, was the big "gun" for OCE by posting wins in both sprints and also in the broad jump to pace the Wolf pack with 17 points for individual honors of the day. Carpenter also placed third in both hurdles. The top performer, however, was Rich Green of the Portland squad. Green succeeded in drawing many a lifted eyebrow and steadfast gaze as he soared over the high jump bar at 6' 4" to establish an unofficial field record.

Ken Cummiskey's cindermen netted 11 of 15 first place victories in recording its second meet victory of the season. Results:

Wolves and Viks Split Two Games

The OCE Wolves dumped the Portland State Vikings 9-4 in the first game of a doubleheader played last week in Portland; but the Viks sneaked past the Oregon College men in the nightcap, 9-7.

Big "Bear" Adams was the plate hero for OCE, hammering two triples in the opener plus a three-bagger and a home run in the final game. Another Adams' triple was reduced to a single after an umpire ruled that Barry had failed to make contact with second base.

OCE'er Dwaine Brandt pitched the entire seven innings of the opener, allowing only four hits and fanning 11 Portland Staters.

A Viking raid in the fifth frame of the night-cap led by Dave Starbuck, who slapped a three-run home run, sparked the team to a seven run Portland State inning. PSC moundsman Mike Menath, although suffering a 13-hit OCE attack, gained credit for the win.

The split brought the Wolves' season record to 7-6, and the Vikings' record to 2-6.

The Wolves will host Pacific university this afternoon on the OCE diamond.

SPORTS OF SORTS

by RUSS BAGLIEN

According to the word we have, OCE's four secondary school grads (John O'Donnell, Hank Cedros, Paul Riley and Gene Owens) have not yet been signed to contracts. Probably one reason is that they are competing for jobs that have applicants from such schools as Oregon State, Oregon, Willamette, Lewis and Clark, and so on. These schools have "bigger names" in secondary placement, but that doesn't necessarily mean they send out people who are better qualified.

No one close to the sports scene at OCE will question the ability of these four prospective coaches. All but Riley have had coaching experience here at the college and Riley, as captain of the football team last fall, certainly has the leadership qualities necessary for successful coaching. And, as for their classroom teaching abilities, anyone who has ever attended OCE will attest to the training prospective teachers get here. It is of the very highest calibre and anyone who graduates from OCE certainly is qualified to teach in any classroom in the state system.

Why, then, aren't these highly capable young men locating jobs? Dr. Floyd Albin, who heads OCE's placement bureau, provides us with at least a partial answer. There is not a definite demand for high school teachers at the present time, as there is in the elementary field, and there is even less of a demand for social-science majors, says Albin. These areas seem to be fairly well crowded and, unfortunately, O'Donnell, Cedros, Owens and Riley are all social-science majors.

We are all quite confident that this foursome and other non-athlete secondary grads will wind up with jobs before September rolls around. And within two or three years the demand for high school social-science teachers is going to increase. Grade and junior high schools are bulging at the seams now and high schools will be facing the very same situation shortly.

We make a point of this for one reason. If you are planning on going into secondary education, or are already in it, you might be wise to consider humanities or science-math for a first-teaching area. There seems to be more of a demand for teachers in these areas and you might be making it easier for yourself to land a job if you pick the right teaching area.

O'Donnell, the only one of the four we have had a chance to discuss the matter with, has some additional views on the subject. John contends that lack of experience is one of the most difficult barriers to surmount. John has his application in at 10 schools and this far has had only two interviews! School superintendents apparently don't even want to talk to you unless you have had at least a year of experience, says John. We can only say that superintendents who make this stipulation are making a mistake that is costing them a chance to hire personnel who would be an asset to the community as well as to the school.

The situation probably won't get much better for OCE secondary grads until we have a few of our own people in secondary administrative positions. At least, then, our graduates will be given the opportunity of having an interview which, in turn, gives them more of a chance to compete for the job.

MONDAY SPORTS . . . Watch the Oregon Journal for a new weekly sports column by Al Gould featuring Oregon Collegiate Conference and Northwest Conference athletes . . . The Oak Knoll spring handicap golf tourney gets underway May 6. OCE "duffers" who plan to enter should turn in their 36-hole qualifying scores by this week-end. Four nine-hole cards will suffice . . . Larry Gower has been named captain of the track team by election of his mates. He's OCE's top man in the 880.
